DCCA TO RELOCATE; DIVISIONS TO TEMPORARILY CLOSE

(Honolulu)- The Department of Commerce and Consumer Affairs will soon be moving into recently renovated quarters in the King Kalakaua Building, formerly the U. S. Post Office, Customs House and Court Building on Merchant Street in downtown Honolulu.

The move will take place over two weeks and involve all of the DCCA Divisions currently located in the Princess Kamamalu Building at 1010 Richards Street.

During the move, service to the public will be temporarily disrupted, as computers, telephones and office furniture are relocated. An information hotline for members of the public will be available at 587-1234.

Following is a schedule of the days the respective DCCA Divisions plan to be closed to the public:

Insurance Division	Thursday, Friday and Monday, November 13 th , 14 th and 17 th .
Division of Financial Institutions	Monday and Tuesday, November 17 th and 18 th
Office of Administrative Hearings and Department Of Consumer Advocacy	Tuesday and Wednesday, November 18 th and 19 th
Cable Television and Director's Office	Wednesday and Thursday, November 19 th and 20 th

Business Registration Thursday, Friday and Monday, November 20th, 21st, and 24th

Professional and Vocational Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 24th, 25th
Licensing and 26th

The divisions plan to reopen at 7:45 A.M. the morning following their move dates.

DCCA's Office of Consumer Protection as well as the Regulated Industries Complaints Office will remain open to the public during the move. The two divisions will remain in their current offices in the Leiopapa A Kamehameha Building on South Beretania Street.
